End archaic ban

Letter

Thank you, Al Taubman, for so eloquently stating the state of affairs for embryonic stem cell research in Michigan ("Stem cell ban hurts Michigan," Aug. 1). Having lost my dad to ALS, I can only echo his sentiments that we must allow all reasonable forms of research in our state to help identify the cause, treatment and cure for devastating diseases like ALS. I can only hope our legislators will see reason and compassion and end the archaic ban in Michigan. We must look under every rock for the answer that will save the thousands of people who will be diagnosed with this disease every year.
