

The Detroit News

August 14, 2007

Reopen for business

Letter

Michigan needs to change its restrictive embryonic stem cell research laws and bring biotech jobs to our state. I keep hearing about other states like California, New York, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois that are recruiting companies and researchers to conduct regulated embryonic stem cell research in their state. What is Michigan doing? Hanging a "closed for business" sign on our border? Change our laws now.

James F. Eliason

Chief Scientific Officer

Asterand

Detroit